

Learning Forward Virginia Joins Leading Education Groups in Launching the Commonwealth Learning Partnership

Learning Forward Virginia has been working diligently to develop support for educators and students in response to the COVID-19 pandemic through collaboration with other leading education nonprofits and schools of education. To augment this commitment to our learning community, we have joined the Commonwealth Learning Partnership, a collective of leading nonprofit organizations and schools of education dedicated to modernizing Virginia's education system.

Last month, the Commonwealth Learning Partnership formally launched its website and social media channels, which will serve in part as an information repository for educators, administrators, and families to assist with at-home learning. We believe these materials can help meet the challenges educators have described. The Partnership will soon begin hosting live Facebook and Twitter chats, webinars and other virtual events to engage with you in real time.

To stay in the loop with Learning Forward Virginia is offering alongside other education groups through the Commonwealth Learning Partnership, I invite you to visit the Partnership's website and subscribe to its social media channels, listed below:

Website: www.commonwealthlearningpartnership.org

Twitter: @VA_Partners4Edu

Facebook: Commonwealth Learning Partnership

Instagram: @VA_Partners4Edu

We hope the combined effort of this collective will provide you with stronger support and solutions to the challenges Virginia's education community is currently facing.